MARYVILLE ON BIG HIGHWAY

ITASCA PARK ROUTE WILL BE EXTENDED.

IS 2,074 MILES LONG

Will Be Routed From New Orleans to Winnipeg, Canada—Extensive Paving Program Under Way.

Maryville, now on the Itasca Park Highway, will become a part of a great national organization of cities and towns along an extended system from New Orleans to Winnipeg, according to W. H. Hambaugh, new general manager of the Itasca Park Highway Association, who is a business visitor in Maryville today.

The Itasca Park Highway was originally a route from Kansas City to Itasca Park, Minn., but now it is planned to greatly enlarge the system, making it extend from Canada to the Gulf.

New orange and black steel markers will be placed along the new highway within the next year.

The enlarged route is 2,074 miles long and by the end of the present year it is planned to have the road either gravel or concrete surfaced from Winnipeg to Carroll, Ia., a distance of 738 miles. Within eighteen months the paving would be extended as far south of St. Joseph, and it is planned to have the entire highway paved within the next two years.

The work would be financed by county and state organizations, co-operating with the national highway association. Road boosters in Nodaway County would choose three delegates to the state convention where the same number of representatives would be chosen to the national convention. In this way it is planned to initiate an intensive campaign for the raising of funds through the solicitation of memberships.

If the project goes through as planned, it will mean Maryville would have a place on a great national highway and a large number of tourists would pass through this city annually.

J. B. Cummins and L. H. Evans will represent the Maryville Chamber of Commerce and George P. Sillers, the Automobile Club of Missouri, in taking charge of the promotion work in this county for the enlarged highway.

TO START THIS FALL

Both Individual And Group Lessons To Be Given, According To Announcement By L. E. Ziegler, Supt.

Students in the Maryville High School will have the benefit of instruction by several members of the faculty of the College Conservatory of Music, beginning next year, it was announced by L. E. Ziegler, superintendent, following a meeting of the school board last night.

This arrangement will provide the students in the local high school with instruction in both vocal and instrumental music and will enable the school to keep pace with the increased demand for high class instruction in music.

Individual and group lessons in both vocal and instrumental music will be offered next year, Mr. Ziegler said this morning, and the various organizations at the high school, such as the orchestra, band, chorus, glee club, quartets and others, will be under the supervision of members of the Conservatory faculty.

Such an arrangement, it was pointed out will prove beneficial to both the high school and College. The former will receive the instruction from the Conservatory faculty and the latter will be benefited by a higher type of musicians who enter the College from the local high school after being tutored by authorities in music.

The detailed program has not yet been worked out but as soon as the plan is complete, a further announcement will be made.

FOUR ARTISTS IN A RECITAL

VOCALISTS PLEASE IN MUSIC WEEK NUMBER AT COLLEGE.

MR. DAVIS IS POPULAR

T. H. Annett of College Faculty Played All Accompaniments—Handel's Messiah Tonight.

The large audience that heard Mrs. Allen Taylor, soprano, Mrs. Raymond Havens, contralto, Ernest Davis, tenor, and David Grosch, bass, at the College auditorium last night was enthusiastically appreciative. The artists concert was the fifth number of Music Week.

The opening group was by Mr. Davis, who has a delightful personality and a splendid voice, which he handles with surety and skill. He was especially popular with the audience and at the end of his final group was forced to respond to two encores, one of which was "My Desire," a new composition by Cadman.

Mrs. Havens, considered by many the star of last night's program, sings with perfect ease. She has a lovely voice, a distinctive and fine style and a singularly sweet and winning personality. After her three numbers she sang "Lazy Song" as an encore.

Mrs. Taylor's group included four Old World Dance Songs by Phillips and her interpretations were charming. Mrs. Taylor is one of the most gifted sopranos in Kansas City today and she has a voice of pure lovely quality. She also responded with an encore.

Mr. Grosch's three selections and an encore demonstrated his versatility and beauty of tone. He is a singer of intelligence with a voice of ample range.

The duet by Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Havens, "Fu le Sorte" from Aida by Verdi, was sung expressively.

The "Quartet" from Rigoletto (Verdi) by the four artists made a brilliant conclusion to the evening's program.

A notice of the concert would not be complete without the mention of Thomas H. Annett, the only local performer who played all the accompaniments with sympathy and expression.

The presentation of Handel's "Messiah" by the College chorus of 250 voices, under the direction of Charles R. Gardner, will be the final number of the Spring Music Festival. The soloists will be Mrs. Allen Taylor, soprano, Mrs. Raymond Havens, contralto, Ernest Davis, tenor, and David Grosch, bass. The instrumentation will be furnished by Thomas Annett, piano, Miss Audrey Stiwalt, first violin, Miss Margaret Deltz, second violin, Miss Gene Boyle, viola, and Miss Lucile Gaugh, cello.

The program will start at 8:15 o'clock.

JACK FROST IS A VISITOR

DAMAGE TO GROWING STUFF IS INCURRED.

MUCH CORN PLANTING

One Field of Corn Is Reported Up Already—Weather Forecast Is Continued Cold.

Jack Frost visited the county last night, leaving a white trail behind him that was clearly visible this morning, and also marked his way over the gardens and flower beds with touches of black, curled under leaves, where the tender growing stuff suffered.

The fact is that the temperature fell to a freezing point in certain vicinities of the county. Ernest Wray, president of the Farm Bureau, reported that this morning when he went out to his hog lot the watering trough was covered with a sheet of ice.

The county agent, J. Ross Fleetwood, was not only leary that the frost hurt the growing crops and garden stuff, but was quite certain damage was incurred by the low temperature during the early morning hours.

He said that the farmers throughout the county were not losing any time getting their corn planted and noted many out in the fields yesterday around Skidmore checking in many acres of corn. Mr. Fleetwood said he saw a field near Quitman yesterday that was far ahead of the season, the corn being visible at least two inches above the ground and the rows showing plainly across the field.

However, he was not so optimistic about corn being above the ground now, with this cold spell threatening to incur damage most any night.

It was reported that the mercury was forced down to 33 degrees last night.

The weather forecast for tonight and tomorrow is continued cold.

EXPERIMENT IS MONEY MAKER

CLEARMONT STUDENTS MAKE STUDY OF POULTRY RAISING.

IS OF MUCH BENEFIT

Members of Agriculture Class There Learn Various Phases of Production Problems—Describe Work.

Students in agriculture at the Clearmon High School, under the direction of W. H. Burr, instructor, made a profitable study of poultry raising during the present school year.

This practical experiment carried on in connection with class work, furnished the students with actual experience in chicken raising and provided an object lesson which will be beneficial after school days are over.

Short essays, describing the experiment, were written by Milo Porterfield, Charles F. Fenton, Hollis Smith, Donald Price, Lester Moore, Velma Maier and Beulah Skeed, students in the agriculture class at Clearmont.

On November 1 the students at Clearmont started the construction of a chicken house. They bought $15 worth of lumber and secured some other material from the old schoolhouse there.

The students worked on the chicken house during the class periods in November and December. The house was 8 x 12 feet, large enough for twenty chickens. Part of the structure is open with a screen over it to keep the hens from getting out. A muslin cloth is put over the opening in cold weather. The building is on runners so that it can be moved where it is wanted. The front of it faces the south so that plenty of sunlight can get in. The roof slants to the north. There is a door in both ends and on the inside there is a board floor in order that the straw will keep dry.

The roosts are on the north side of the henhouse and the dropping board, which is underneath them, slants out and can easily be removed and cleaned. The nests are in the east end. A quantity of straw was put on the floor of the chicken house, giving the birds an opportunity to scratch and get their food.

A water fountain was made for the chicken house and a hardware dealer at Clearmont did the tin work. The fountain holds five gallons of water in a detachable tank and is kept from freezing by a lantern in the bottom of the fountain. The water tank is about two and a half feet from the floor, so that the chickens cannot scratch straw into the water. A perch was built on each side of the fountain, on which the chickens stand while drinking.

The water tank is easily cleaned as it can readily be lifted from the warmer.

The cost of the fountain was about $2.50.

In order to furnish the chickens with green feed in the winter an oat sprouter was constructed. Four oat boxes, each twelve inches square, were made. The boxes were four inches in depth. A holder was then made for the boxes by nailing boards in the form of an oblong, fourteen inches wide by three feet in heighth, inside measurements. Then a four-inch board was nailed every six inches, which served as cleats and also shelves for the oat boxes. The oblongs were fastened together and the oat sprouter was ready for use.

The oats were soaked in warm water for six or eight hours and then spread over the bottom of the oat boxes about a half an inch deep. It was watered daily and the grain was ready for use in about a week after soaking. It was found that a square inch daily was sufficient for one fowl but this is not needed when the fowls have growing grass to feed on.

The next problem was how and what to feed the chickens. A balanced but inexpensive ration was desired. This was determined by securing a ration for one hundred hens, and out of this a balanced ration for the number of chickens on hand was figured by the students in class.

The students in the class at Clearmont take turns about in feeding the chickens. One feeds the the first part of the week, a second the latter part and so on. Corn, milk, sprouted oats, steamed alfalfa meal, shorts and bran

TWO TRIPS TO CHICAGO GIVEN

BOYS AND GIRLS ARE OFFERED AN OPPORTUNITY.

AWARDED BY RAILROAD

Chicago Great Western Sponsors Prizes Consisting of Trips to International Livestock Show.

Two boys or girls in Nodaway County have an opportunity to be among the eighteen prize winners of educational trips to the Fourth National Boys and Girls' Club Congress just announced by the Chicago Great Western Railway Company for the boy or girl doing the most outstanding work in the counties along that line having the largest enrollment of 4-H Club members completing work on crop, livestock or home economic projects.

Two trips will be awarded to Missouri, including the counties of Andrew, Buchanan, Platte, Nodaway and Worth.

The selection of the winners will be made by the officers of the extension division of the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri with the co-operation of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Held in Chicago each fall at the time of the International Livestock Show, the National Boys and Girls Club Congress becomes more popular among rural boys and girls each succeeding year and larger numbers of junior farmers are being enrolled in the club work annually.

The outing is planned so that the greatest educational good may be derived, from having a part in the livestock show itself and seeing the stockyards, to visiting the field museum, the large stores and banks, theaters, Lincoln Park with its galaxy of animals, birds and fishes from every part of the world, in fact, the city is theirs for the week. And what a crowning week in their lives it will ever be, only those who have had the opportunity to attend a Club Congress can know.

The Chicago Great Western gave prize educational trips to last year's Congress and joined with other railroads in giving a banquet as part of the general entertainment and as a means of acclaiming and encouraging the work of these rural club champions.

"Good work is a reward in itself. We grown-ups have learned that," said S. M. Felton, President of the Chicago Great Western, "but a boy or girl, especially on a farm, gets more out of competitive efforts with the boys and girls in his community and he is stimulated to keep up his records on a project through many months when he knows others are definitely watching for the result and have set an award."

The best interests the country over are finding 4-H Club work the most fundamental and best avenue for bringing out the best energies of rural youth, directing this energy along the right lines, and they are supporting it in such manner as the Great Western trips here announced.

SAYS WITNESS NOT TRUTHFUL

FORMER LODGE MANAGER ANGERED BY TESTIMONY.

INSANITY PLEA URGED

State Battles To Introduce Letter In Trial of Kansas City Man Accused of Murder.

Kansas City, May 6.—Jumping to his feet and shouting that E. S. G. Briggs, state witness, was lying, Roscoe F. Warren, former manager of the Mutual Rocky Mountain Club, created a stir as the state began today to present its case against him on a charge of murdering John C. Deskin, prominent Mason, October 13.

Briggs was testifying that Deskin was reading a letter to the club at a meeting of the directors. The communication he said, was from H. B. Hausch, trustee, representing Ike M. Cobb of Blackwell, Okla., regarding a loan from Blackwell of $27,000 to the club. The letter, Briggs testified, accused Warren of taking property from the Pahaska (the lodge).

It was at this point that Warren, red-faced, cried out, "Why don't you stick to the truth?"

Kansas City, May 6.—With the jury completed today which is to try Roscoe F. Warren, club man and prominent Mason, accused of the murder on October 13 of John C. Deskin, equally prominent in Masonic circles, interest centered in the battle over the admission as state evidence of a letter Warren received in jail from Miss Katie Kern, 60, of Valley City, N. D.

This letter, the state charges, advised Warren to plead insanity so that he would be "sent to an insane asylum and be out in a short time."

Warren is accused of shooting Deskin at a directors meeting of the Mutual Mountain Club, a Masonic organization of which Warren was manager. Deskin was shot as he was reading a resolution demanding Warren's resignation.

Eight Known Dead In Explosion in Buildings

Two Other Persons Are Missing After Blast And Fire Which Causes Damage Estimated At $225,000.

Swissvale, Pa., May 6.—Firemen exploring the ruins of the four buildings demolished by the explosion which shook Swissvale, a suburb of Pittsburg, early today, have recovered the bodies of the seventh and eighth victims of the blast.

Recovery of three of the eleven persons seriously injured appears doubtful, physicians said.

Swissvale, Pa., May 6.—With six known dead and two other persons missing in the explosion and fire which destroyed four buildings here early today, local police and Thomas Pfarr, county fire marshal, started separate investigations to determine the cause of the fire.

Pfarr, after a preliminary investigation, declared today a bomb might have fired the buildings.

Damage was estimated at $225,000. Windows in 200 buildings were broken by the explosion and several other buildings were jarred from foundations Pfarr said.

David Gall of Mound City, who formerly lived in Maryville, is visiting friends here. He expects to locate soon in southern Missouri.

Bandit, Trapped, Takes His Life

Second Young Man, Son of Former State Senator, Held In Stewartsville Holdup.

St. Joseph, May 6.—Rather than submit to capture and face the possibility of a long prison sentence, M. F. Ettinger, 30 years old, one of the youthful bandits who robbed the First National bank of Stewartsville, Mo., Tuesday noon, committed suicide by firing two shots into his right temple late Tuesday afternoon in the bottom of a drainage ditch five miles east of St. Joseph near the Mitchell avenue road.

Glenn Glick, 27 years old, 3103 Mitchell avenue, son of George W. Glick, former state senator, Ettinger's companion in the daring robbery, was captured by Sheriff Harvey Boyle in the same ditch. He is being held at the county jail for the sheriff of DeKalb county, who will take him to Maysville.

The loot, estimated by bank authorities at approximately $4,000, is all believed to have been recovered. Immediately following the shooting, young Glick took the sheriff back the road a mile to where they had cached their swag by the roadside. More than $1,500 in currency, and a strong box, the contents of which are unknown, were wrapped up in a two-bushel grain sack.

Notified shortly after 3 that a Chrysler roadster in which the youthful pair had made their escape had been discovered by a haystack, Sheriff Boyle and a corps of deputies rushed to the place in motor cars. Closing in on the car, they found it to be abandoned, and began a search through a nearby growth of timber.

After some search, the fugitives were finally discovered running down the drainage ditch. The officers began firing at them and took up the pursuit.

Verne Starmer, young deputy, raced along the side of the ditch after the bandit that was in the lead and Sheriff Boyle went down into the ditch after the other one.

Starmer, after running a short distance stepped up over the edge of the ditch and, covering Ettinger with his gun, commanded him to halt and throw up his hands.

Instead of complying, Ettinger placed the muzzle of a .45 calibre Colt automatic to his right temple and pulled the trigger. "He made no outcry, but slumped to the ground," Starmer continued, "and rolling over on his side, he again placed the gun to his head and fired a second time. He was dead when I reached his side."

Sheriff Boyle, who led the chase after Glick, said he fired at him four times with a sawed-off shotgun before the youth stopped.

Up until a short time ago both young men were employed in the mechanical department of the Burlington railroad shops.

Mr. and Mrs. Huff and Mrs. Frances Leffler of Wilcox visited in Maryville today.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT KANSAS CITY

By Kansas City Live Stock Exchange

Live stock markets are still tied up with the backward demand for meats. The April report of the Institute of American Meat Packers showed declining wholesale prices for dressed meats and the narrowest demand of the year. March advances were responsible for this dullness in the trade, and now that prices have been reduced some meat should be an attractive commodity. However American meat trade seems to have reached a point where it requires considerable nursing. Export outlet for meats, especially pork, pork product and lard has decreased steadily since the first of the year, until now producers are practically dependent on the domestic trade. It does not seem probable that there can be any additional decrease in demand, and with summer industrial activities well under way there should be some expansion. The fact that available supplies of fat live stock will diminish during the next sixty days, should permit a clean up of surplus meats, and put outlet channels in a good position to care for the mid-summer and fall runs of grass fat classes.

The two days this week brought only moderate changes in fat cattle prices. Monday's market was down 10 to 15 cents, and today trade was steady on that basis. Good to choice yearlings, medium and handy weight steers sold at $10.00 to $11.00. Strong and heavy weight classes brought $9.50 to $10.35, and the bulk of the grain fed steers sold at $9 to $10.25. Straight grass fat steers from south Texas sold at $6 to $7.10, and meal and hull fed classes at $7.50 to $9.70. Pulp fed steers brought $8.85 to $10.15. General demand favors steers weighing 900 to 1150 pounds.

Prices for butcher cattle are holding close to steady and trade is active. Prime classes are scarce. Cows show a top quotation of $9, and prime heifers of $10.50. The bulk of the medium to good cows are bringing $5.25 to $7, and the bulk of the heifers $7.75 to $9.50. Choice steers and heifers mixed sold at $10 to $10.50. Veal calves are 50 cents higher, top $9. Bulls are up 10 to 15 cents, most sales at $4.25 to $5.

Demand for stockers and feeders continues active at firm prices. Most of the offerings are suitable for grazing purposes and the large part of the demand is on that account. There is a fairly good inquiry for fleshy steers for a short feed lot finish. Stock calves are scarce. A fairly large supply of stock cows and heifers is available.

Monday hog prices advanced 10 cents but today weakness was evident in the market again. Compared with Monday's best time prices were off 5 cents. Eastern markets showed 10 to 15 cent declines. The top price was $11.10, bulk of sales $10.85 to $11.85. Light weights brought the top and medium and heavies sold at practically the same price range. The 140 to 160 pound classes brought $10.50 to $10.85, packing sows $10 to $10.25, and pigs $10 to $10.60.

Lambs advanced 25 cents and sheep were strong. Arizona spring lambs brought $16 to $16.25, native spring lambs $15 to $15.75, wooled lambs lambs $15.50 to $15.75. Some shorn wethers brought $9.80, and wooled ewes $9.25.

Each student in the class made a feeder. One of them was made out of a box two feet high and one foot wide. The back and front was taken off to allow plenty of room to work. The next step was to insert in the box two v-shaped brackets, one on each side. This was done by cutting four boards, one inch thick and two inches wide, cut off at each end at the proper angle so they would lay even with the edge, sides and bottom of the box. Two of these were nailed on each side and fitted together in a v-shape. The boards were nailed to these, having a narrow crack at the bottom for the feed to run through.

The back and front of the box was replaced. A board was nailed just high enough to come up even with the opening for the feed to run through. The other boards were nailed on above this, leaving an opening through which the chickens could eat.

A hole was cut in the top of the box in order that the feed could be put in. Two boards, cut in the shape of a triangle was nailed to the edges opposite each other. On one slope a board was nailed permanently, while the other one was put on with hinges.

An experiment with twenty hens was started on October 1, 1924 and ended April 1 of this year. The problem was to cull out the non-producing hens and thus strengthen the flock as a whole. After the culling, it was found that practically as many eggs were obtained as before the experiment started.

In the early part of the school term an egg candler was started. It was made of boards and is nineteen and a half inches by twenty-five inches. It was lined with excelsior and covered with heavy cloth. A hole was drilled in one side and then the students bent some wire so that a baking powder can would sit on it. A hole was made in the bottom of the can and an electric light put in. The candler was fixed so that the eggs would roll toward the hole in one side. The candler will hold one hundred eggs and work can be done very fast.

In packing the eggs, the brown ones were put in one case and the white ones in another. The culls were put in a third case and shipped separately. Cases of brown and white eggs were shipped to Boston and New York. It was found that the white eggs brought more in New York and the brown eggs more in Boston.

The agriculture class at Clearmont candled about twenty-four cases of eggs.

The students kept a record of the eggs and feed to ascertain if the chickens were profitable. During the months of January, February and March, twenty-seven and three-fourths dozens of eggs were produced. At the beginning of the year the students had twenty hens but during the three-months period, the flock was culled down to nine. The chickens were fed balanced ration and also sprouted oats. It was found that the following balanced ration was very good:

Ten pounds of corn, ten pounds of wheat and ten pounds of oats for the scratch feed. The mash feed consisted of five pounds of bran, five pounds of shorts and also some buttermilk.

The total cost of the feed which was bought was $6.18. The chicken experiment was found very profitable.

ENTER MEET AT CAMERON

SPOOFHOUNDS TO RUN IN INVITATION MEET FRIDAY.

LAST OF THE SEASON

Three From High School Also Entered in Boys' and Girls' Tennis Tourney Same Day.

What will probably be the last meet for the year for the Maryville High School Spoofhound track and field team will be the Invitation Meet at Cameron Friday afternoon, sponsored by the Missouri Wesleyan College.

Coach Harold G Ebert said today that he would take all his men to the meet if there were sufficient cars for transportation. The outlook for the Spoofhounds at Cameron meet is not very rosy. Paul ("Fox") Kissinger, high jumper and discuss thrower, may not be able to participate Friday as he is now suffering with an infected knee. Robey, dash man and broad jumper, pulled a tendon in one leg last Saturday at the state meet and is not in shape for strenuous competition.

The Cameron meet will have the same number of events as the district meet here sponsored by the State Teachers College, with the exception of the relays. Missouri Wesleyan has substituted a half mile relay for the medley relay.

In case of the half mile relay is run off before the mile relay, Coach Ebert said that he would start Cockayne, Robey, Anderson and I. Miller in this event. However, there might be a change in the personnel of the half mile relay team if the event is run off after the mile relay, and Coach Ebert has Petty, Aley, P. and C. Kissinger, Westfall, King, from which to choose.

A boys' and girls' tennis tournament in singles and doubles is on the card for Friday at Cameron. From the Maryville High School Strong and Diss are entered in the boys' tournaments and Miss Virginia Dean entered in the girls' tourney.

The weather has been unfavorable for track practice this week, and hardly any of the members of the Spoofhound squad have had any work-outs.

Jesse Joy of Ravenwood High School, has been entered in several events at the Cameron meet and will probably go down with the Spoofhound squad.

Coach Ebert Is To Coach Again At High School

Harold G. Ebert, who for the last two years has been athletic director at the Maryville High School, will again be in charge of athletics next year.

He said today that he has signed a contract with the school board as a member of the High School faculty for 1925-26. He will be in direct charge of coaching the football, basketball and track teams, and will aid when time permits, in developing the girls' basketball team, as he did the last season.

Since Mr. Ebert has been in charge of the Spoofhound teams at the local high school he has taken green material each year and developed winning combinations.

Starting with each season the prospects have been clouded with the fact that many of the athletes were lost by graduation, left school, or injuries keep the men from giving their best. However, both years he has coached the football team, the Spoofhounds have been runners-up for the championship of Northwest Missouri, and on both occasions were defeated by a heavier and more experienced team.

Last year the track team ran-off with the district meet here and copped the American Legion meet at Albany.

The basketball team this year was class A winner and runner-up for the district championship, and the track team was barely nosed out of a victory in the district track meet.

Make Change in Price To Local Ball Games

In order to induce the women to become ardent baseball fans and supporters of the Maryville Merchants' Baseball Club, and to increase the attendance at the ball games that are scheduled for nearly every Sunday here this season, the management of the M. M. B. C. has instituted a change in regard to the admission charges.

Heretofore the admission price to all adults has been 50 cents for single admission, or $3.75 for a season ticket, good for ten games. In the future admission for women will be 25 cents. However, an adult male possessing a season ticket, will be permitted to have a woman accompany him without paying additional admission price.

This new ruling will go into effect at the next game. Regardless of this, all mothers will be admitted free to the Mothers' Day game with Rock Port on Sunday, and all mothers are invited to be guests of the local ball club on this occasion.

Prison Factories Back On Former Work Plan

Under This System State Charges Only For Labor and Outside Manufacturers Furnish Goods.

Jefferson City, May 6.—John I. Barnett, superintendent of industry for the penitentiary, today said the prison board has decided to adopt the "cut, make and trim" plan for disposing of a part of prison products because the present system of selling direct to jobbers had proved unsatisfactory and unprofitable.

On a "cut, make and trim" basis, which was in vogue during the Gardner administration, the prison manufactured products from goods furnished by outside firms. The prison charges for the labor.

The entire output of the broom factory and 50 per cent of the output of the overall and shirt factories will be sold on a "cut, make and trim" basis.

The product of the broom factory will be sold to C. C. Carson, broom manufacturer of this city. Parts of the outputs of the overall and shirt factories will be sold to D. M. Overman Manufacturing Co. of this city.
